

ANNAPOLIS IS HOME AFTER LONG CRUISE

Pennsylvania Schoolship With 74 Cadets Docks at Penn Treaty Wharf

ARRIVES TEN HOURS LATE

The Pennsylvania schoolship Annapolis, carrying seventy-four cadets, returned from its three-months' cruise and made a belated arrival last night at Penn Treaty wharf at the foot of East Columbia avenue.

The ship docked shortly after 10 o'clock, and despite the lateness of the hour there were scores of persons, parents, wives and sweethearts of the cadets at the pier to welcome them.

Many had been waiting at the pier since noon, when the Annapolis was scheduled to arrive.

Boiler trouble developed however, as the ship was nearing Marcus Hook. After futile efforts to repair the trouble, Commander R. W. Dempwolf called two tugs, and when the ship arrived here it was in tow.

The Annapolis left the Philadelphia Navy Yard July 18 and headed for Halifax for the first port call.

Stops were later made at Liverpool, Gibraltar, Hava and Madeira. The cadets spent a short time ashore at each of the ports.

During the trip the men were taught navigation, spherical trigonometry and great circle sailing, nautical astronomy, dead reckoning and allied subjects. The instruction ship is under the control of the State Nautical School and is sponsored by the board of commissioners of navigation.

ANNIVERSARY IS OBSERVED

Salvation Army Celebrates Its 43d Year in America

Several hundred Salvationists gathered at Fourth and Oxford streets last evening and celebrated the forty-third anniversary of the beginning of Salvation Army work in America.

As Lieutenant Colonel Arthur T. Brewer explained, the meeting was conducted on the spot where Amos Shirley, his wife and daughter Eliza assembled on Sunday, October 5, 1879, and held the first Salvation Army meeting on this continent. It was in an abandoned chair factory.

Colonel Samuel Logan Brengle, veteran Salvation Army evangelist, was the principal speaker.

WONER ACT ASSAILED

Supreme Court Reserves Decision in Crawford County Case

Pittsburgh, Oct. 6.—The constitutionality of the Woner act was attacked yesterday in an argument presented by Frank J. Thomas, attorney, who appeared before the Supreme Court as counsel for William Alderman. Alderman was convicted in Crawford County of transporting liquor, which is prohibited under the provisions of the act. The Superior Court decided the case against Alderman, and it was then appealed to the higher tribunal. Attorney General Alter appeared as the representative of the Commonwealth to defend the act.

LECTURES ON LIGHT

A lecture on the primary standard of light, illustrated by exhibits and lantern slides, was given last night by Herbert E. Ives, Ph. D., at the Franklin Institute. Dr. Ives first reviewed the present situation with respect to the standards of light, the characteristics of the flame standards now used and deficiencies of various standards proposed to replace them.

"GAM" FINDS IT HARD to settle down to work. But a working girl has to do something to earn her salary. It is the nature of Miss O'Flaherty that makes "Somebody's Girl" such a popular character with the readers of the All-Star Comic Section of the Sunday Pictorial.
